FINE ARTS MONTH: The main artistic products of tropical Africa were wood carvings and sculpture. Most of the objects were considered sacred and used in complex rituals. They were designed to be intentionally unrealistic and later inspired artists such as Pablo Picasso and painters of a movement in art called Cubism which broke objects down to their basic elements. (Mrs. Stuphin)

ANSWER TO FRIDAY'S QUESTION: The famous person born on Pi day was Albert Einstein! Born on March 14, 1878, (that's 3/14) I wonder if he was born at 1:59:26? We may never know. Some Pi facts: Pi is the number you get when you divide the circumference of any circle by its diameter, yet it can't be expressed as a fraction. The decimals go on forever, never repeating a pattern. Pi is the most famous irrational number. Do you know any others? Stay tuned to the bulletin for more fun, facts, and trivia about pi! Math is all around us – and that includes Pi.
